the 1990s, the number of people in the world who are undernourished has increased from 600 million to 800 million (FAO 1999). The number of people who are malnourished has increased from 1.2 billion to 1.5 billion (FAO 1999).

There are a number of reasons why the number of people who are undernourished has increased. One of the main reasons is that the world population has increased. The world population is now over 6 billion and is expected to reach 9 billion by the year 2050 (FAO 1999).

Another reason why the number of people who are undernourished has increased is that the world's food supply is not keeping pace with the world's population. The world's food supply is estimated to be 1.5 billion tonnes per year, which is not enough to feed the world's population of 6 billion people (FAO 1999).

A third reason why the number of people who are undernourished has increased is that the world's food supply is not distributed evenly. In some parts of the world, there is a surplus of food, while in other parts, there is a shortage (FAO 1999).

There are a number of ways in which the world's food supply can be increased. One way is to increase the amount of land that is used for agriculture. Another way is to increase the amount of food that is produced on the same amount of land (FAO 1999).

There are a number of ways in which the world's food supply can be distributed more evenly. One way is to reduce the amount of food that is wasted. Another way is to increase the amount of food that is distributed to the people who need it most (FAO 1999).

There are a number of ways in which the world's food supply can be made more sustainable. One way is to reduce the amount of food that is produced using unsustainable methods. Another way is to increase the amount of food that is produced using sustainable methods (FAO 1999).

There are a number of ways in which the world's food supply can be made more secure. One way is to reduce the amount of food that is produced in areas that are vulnerable to natural disasters. Another way is to increase the amount of food that is produced in areas that are less vulnerable to natural disasters (FAO 1999).

There are a number of ways in which the world's food supply can be made more accessible. One way is to reduce the amount of food that is produced in areas that are difficult to reach. Another way is to increase the amount of food that is produced in areas that are easier to reach (FAO 1999).

There are a number of ways in which the world's food supply can be made more affordable. One way is to reduce the amount of food that is produced using expensive methods. Another way is to increase the amount of food that is produced using cheap methods (FAO 1999).

There are a number of ways in which the world's food supply can be made more nutritious. One way is to reduce the amount of food that is produced using unhealthy methods. Another way is to increase the amount of food that is produced using healthy methods (FAO 1999).

There are a number of ways in which the world's food supply can be made more palatable. One way is to reduce the amount of food that is produced using unappetizing methods. Another way is to increase the amount of food that is produced using appetizing methods (FAO 1999).

There are a number of ways in which the world's food supply can be made more enjoyable. One way is to reduce the amount of food that is produced using boring methods. Another way is to increase the amount of food that is produced using fun methods (FAO 1999).

There are a number of ways in which the world's food supply can be made more interesting. One way is to reduce the amount of food that is produced using dull methods. Another way is to increase the amount of food that is produced using exciting methods (FAO 1999).

There are a number of ways in which the world's food supply can be made more useful. One way is to reduce the amount of food that is produced using wasteful methods. Another way is to increase the amount of food that is produced using useful methods (FAO 1999).

There are a number of ways in which the world's food supply can be made more valuable. One way is to reduce the amount of food that is produced using cheap methods. Another way is to increase the amount of food that is produced using expensive methods (FAO 1999).

There are a number of ways in which the world's food supply can be made more important. One way is to reduce the amount of food that is produced using unimportant methods. Another way is to increase the amount of food that is produced using important methods (FAO 1999).

There are a number of ways in which the world's food supply can be made more significant. One way is to reduce the amount of food that is produced using insignificant methods. Another way is to increase the amount of food that is produced using significant methods (FAO 1999).
