the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are employed in the public sector has increased by 1.5 million, from 2.5 million in 1980 to 4 million in 1995 (Department of Health 1996).

There is a growing emphasis on the need to improve the efficiency of the public sector, and to ensure that the public sector is able to deliver the services that are required by the public. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of competition, the restructuring of public services, and the introduction of new management practices. These initiatives have led to a number of changes in the way that public services are delivered, and have led to a number of improvements in the efficiency of the public sector.

One of the main challenges facing the public sector is the need to improve the efficiency of the public sector. This is a challenge that is being faced by many countries, and it is a challenge that is becoming increasingly important. The public sector is a large and complex organization, and it is difficult to improve its efficiency. However, there are a number of ways in which the efficiency of the public sector can be improved.

One of the main ways in which the efficiency of the public sector can be improved is by introducing competition. This can be done by allowing private companies to compete for public contracts, or by allowing private companies to take over public services. This can lead to a number of improvements in the efficiency of the public sector, including a reduction in costs and an improvement in the quality of services.

Another way in which the efficiency of the public sector can be improved is by restructuring public services. This can be done by combining public services, or by transferring public services to private companies. This can lead to a number of improvements in the efficiency of the public sector, including a reduction in costs and an improvement in the quality of services.

A third way in which the efficiency of the public sector can be improved is by introducing new management practices. This can be done by introducing new management practices, or by transferring public services to private companies. This can lead to a number of improvements in the efficiency of the public sector, including a reduction in costs and an improvement in the quality of services.

There are a number of other ways in which the efficiency of the public sector can be improved, and it is important to continue to explore these options. This is a challenge that is being faced by many countries, and it is a challenge that is becoming increasingly important. The public sector is a large and complex organization, and it is difficult to improve its efficiency. However, there are a number of ways in which the efficiency of the public sector can be improved.

One of the main ways in which the efficiency of the public sector can be improved is by introducing competition. This can be done by allowing private companies to compete for public contracts, or by allowing private companies to take over public services. This can lead to a number of improvements in the efficiency of the public sector, including a reduction in costs and an improvement in the quality of services.

Another way in which the efficiency of the public sector can be improved is by restructuring public services. This can be done by combining public services, or by transferring public services to private companies. This can lead to a number of improvements in the efficiency of the public sector, including a reduction in costs and an improvement in the quality of services.

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are employed in the public sector has increased by 1.5 million (from 2.5 million in 1980 to 4 million in 1998). The public sector has become a major employer in the UK, and this has implications for the way in which the public sector is managed and the way in which it is funded.

The public sector is a complex organisation, and it is difficult to understand how it works. The public sector is made up of many different organisations, each of which has its own aims and objectives. The public sector is also funded by the government, and this has implications for the way in which it is managed and the way in which it is funded.

There is a growing emphasis on the need to improve the efficiency of the public sector, and to ensure that the public sector is able to deliver the services that are required by the public. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of competition, the restructuring of public sector organisations, and the introduction of performance targets.

One of the main reasons for the need to improve the efficiency of the public sector is the increasing pressure on public sector budgets. This is due to a number of factors, including the increasing cost of health care, the increasing cost of education, and the increasing cost of social services.

Another reason for the need to improve the efficiency of the public sector is the increasing demand for public services. This is due to a number of factors, including the increasing population, the increasing demand for health care, and the increasing demand for education.

There are a number of ways in which the efficiency of the public sector can be improved. These include the introduction of competition, the restructuring of public sector organisations, and the introduction of performance targets.

One of the main ways in which the efficiency of the public sector can be improved is by the introduction of competition. This can be done by allowing private companies to compete for public sector contracts, or by allowing private companies to take over public sector organisations.

Another way in which the efficiency of the public sector can be improved is by the restructuring of public sector organisations. This can be done by merging public sector organisations, or by transferring public sector functions to private companies.

A third way in which the efficiency of the public sector can be improved is by the introduction of performance targets. These targets can be used to measure the performance of public sector organisations, and to ensure that they are able to deliver the services that are required by the public.

There are a number of challenges associated with improving the efficiency of the public sector. These include the need to ensure that the public sector is able to deliver the services that are required by the public, and the need to ensure that the public sector is able to operate within its budget.

Despite these challenges, there is a growing consensus that the efficiency of the public sector must be improved. This is because the public sector is a major part of the economy, and it is essential that it is able to deliver the services that are required by the public.

There is a growing emphasis on the need to improve the efficiency of the public sector, and to ensure that the public sector is able to deliver the services that are required by the public. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of competition, the restructuring of public sector organisations, and the introduction of performance targets.

One of the main reasons for the need to improve the efficiency of the public sector is the increasing pressure on public sector budgets. This is due to a number of factors, including the increasing cost of health care, the increasing cost of education, and the increasing cost of social services.

Another reason for the need to improve the efficiency of the public sector is the increasing demand for public services. This is due to a number of factors, including the increasing population, the increasing demand for health care, and the increasing demand for education.

There are a number of ways in which the efficiency of the public sector can be improved. These include the introduction of competition, the restructuring of public sector organisations, and the introduction of performance targets.

One of the main ways in which the efficiency of the public sector can be improved is by the introduction of competition. This can be done by allowing private companies to compete for public sector contracts, or by allowing private companies to take over public sector organisations.

Another way in which the efficiency of the public sector can be improved is by the restructuring of public sector organisations. This can be done by merging public sector organisations, or by transferring public sector functions to private companies.

A third way in which the efficiency of the public sector can be improved is by the introduction of performance targets. These targets can be used to measure the performance of public sector organisations, and to identify areas where improvement is needed.

There are a number of challenges associated with improving the efficiency of the public sector. These include the need to ensure that the public sector is able to deliver the services that are required by the public, and the need to ensure that the public sector is able to operate within its budget.

Despite these challenges, there is a growing consensus that the efficiency of the public sector must be improved. This is because the public sector is a major part of the economy, and it is essential that it is able to deliver the services that are required by the public in a cost-effective manner.
