the 1990s, the number of people in the world who are undernourished has increased from 600 million to 800 million (FAO 1996). The number of people who are malnourished has increased from 1.2 billion to 1.5 billion (FAO 1996).

There is a growing awareness of the need to improve the nutritional status of the world's population. The World Health Organization (WHO) has set a goal of reducing the number of undernourished people in the world by 50% by the year 2015 (WHO 1996).

One of the main causes of malnutrition is the lack of access to adequate food. This is often due to poverty, which prevents people from being able to afford to buy enough food. Another cause is the lack of access to land, which prevents people from being able to grow their own food.

There are many ways in which the nutritional status of the world's population can be improved. One way is to increase the production of food. This can be done by increasing the area of land that is used for agriculture, by increasing the yield of crops, and by improving the efficiency of food production.

Another way to improve the nutritional status of the world's population is to increase the access to food. This can be done by providing food aid to people who are unable to afford to buy food, and by improving the distribution of food.

There are many other ways in which the nutritional status of the world's population can be improved. These include improving the quality of food, and increasing the awareness of the need for good nutrition.

It is important to note that improving the nutritional status of the world's population is not just a matter of providing food. It is also a matter of providing the knowledge and skills that are needed to make the most of the food that is available.

There are many organizations that are working to improve the nutritional status of the world's population. These include the WHO, the FAO, and many other international organizations, as well as many national and local organizations.

It is important to note that improving the nutritional status of the world's population is a long-term process. It will take many years to see the results of the efforts that are being made to improve the nutritional status of the world's population.

However, it is important to continue the efforts that are being made to improve the nutritional status of the world's population. This is because the benefits of good nutrition are many, and the costs of malnutrition are high.

Good nutrition is essential for good health. It is also essential for the ability to work and to learn. Therefore, it is important to ensure that everyone has access to adequate food and to the knowledge and skills that are needed to make the most of the food that is available.
