the 1990s, the number of people in the world who are under 15 years of age is expected to increase from 1.1 billion to 1.5 billion.

There are a number of reasons why the world's population is growing so fast. One of the main reasons is that the number of children born to each woman has increased. This is due to a number of factors, including improved medical care, increased access to contraception, and a shift in cultural values.

Another reason for population growth is that the life expectancy of people has increased. This is due to a number of factors, including improved medical care, better nutrition, and a shift in cultural values.

Population growth is a global issue that affects everyone. It is important to understand the reasons why the world's population is growing so fast, so that we can develop effective strategies to manage the growth.

There are a number of ways to manage population growth. One way is to improve medical care, so that more people can live longer lives. Another way is to increase access to contraception, so that women can control the number of children they have.

It is important to understand the reasons why the world's population is growing so fast, so that we can develop effective strategies to manage the growth. This is a global issue that affects everyone, and it is important that we all work together to find a solution.

Population growth is a complex issue that involves many different factors. It is important to understand the reasons why the world's population is growing so fast, so that we can develop effective strategies to manage the growth.

The first of these is the fact that the world is not a uniform whole, but a collection of diverse and often conflicting interests. The second is the fact that the world is not a static entity, but a dynamic one, constantly changing and evolving. The third is the fact that the world is not a simple system, but a complex one, with many interconnected parts and processes. The fourth is the fact that the world is not a single entity, but a collection of many different entities, each with its own unique characteristics and needs. The fifth is the fact that the world is not a single system, but a collection of many different systems, each with its own unique characteristics and needs. The sixth is the fact that the world is not a single entity, but a collection of many different entities, each with its own unique characteristics and needs. The seventh is the fact that the world is not a single system, but a collection of many different systems, each with its own unique characteristics and needs. The eighth is the fact that the world is not a single entity, but a collection of many different entities, each with its own unique characteristics and needs. The ninth is the fact that the world is not a single system, but a collection of many different systems, each with its own unique characteristics and needs. The tenth is the fact that the world is not a single entity, but a collection of many different entities, each with its own unique characteristics and needs.
